- Good job in [redacted] case
- you had good frameworks but I would have liked to see you hit more of the neg case in the 1AR

- use full time!
- Good eye contact, you have a persuasive speaking style.

RFD: I vote aff because neg did not refute Aff's claim that healthcare can be universally offered while privite healthcare remains an option. Neg admited that this is true for education in the Status quo. I also bought aff's first and second voters and that Soc. wellfare proceeds autonomy. That said both debaters did a good job, great debate!

Dante – I thought you started really well – good definitions, contentions. You had the facts and quotes. There is room for improvement though in terms of speaking a little slower, emphasizing the main points, maybe even memorizing portions of your speech to have better eye contact with your audience. I think you lost points in the CX portion and rebuttal. Perhaps try to organize yourself better.

Katherine – Good job with your clear points – contentions & sub points. You had done your homework. I thought you were great in the C-X portion – quick arguments & rebuttals. I would recommend speaking somewhat slower and memorizing some parts of the speech or perhaps have notecards to help you. This will help you maintain eye contact with your audience – very powerful. I would suggest using simpler words as well. You were great.

Rama - don't let Griffin run away with cross-ex! You ask a question & then let him make full arguments. Anyone will - IF you let them.

Griffin - well structured case presentation that sets up voters from the outset.

Rama - 1ST speech is well organized and relates your arguments well to the aff case. You handled his questions well. I think you did a good job of identifying his strongest arguments and focusing attention on them.

In the end, the deciding factor was quality of evidence and analysis around the net economic impact of covering 15% of the public on the other 85%. I am persuaded by aff's analysis and sources to give the round to Aff.

Good job on both sides - enjoyable debate to watch / judge.

Kevin - good robust challenge to value and criterion. Jason - be careful not to make arguments in cross - ex when you should be asking questions. Set arguments up in c-x & then make them in speeches. The block of negative arguments about resource efficiency through private distribution will be the determining factors in this round. In the end, the negative provides a compelling case and sums it up well in rebuttal.

Jason - you had time left in your 1st 2 speeches that you should use to more thoroughly attack the negative arguments. For example, Kevin wants to claim that ER's will treat the poor & that private care does more for preventative stuff. You could have made him defend having this both ways with more thorough arguments.

Aff

Very good definitions
Good rebuttal on Communism, Criterion
Good overall data - Brazil
Don't apologize - be confident
Clarity of speech can improve
Very well-organized

Neg

Clear definitions
Your Value of freedom was shaky
Good confidence, but sarcasm does not support your case
You contradicted yourself on France.
You need more data to support your positions.
Good clarity of speech
Use your CX time

Aff

Clear definitions
Very good organization on Criterion
Very good data throughout
Very good deconstruction of post office argument
Good example w/ Brazil
Excellent argument on Value

Neg

Good academic sources
Your contentions were clear, but not supported by data
Post Office argument is not strong correlation to health.
If you make blanket statements - "bad idea", "govt is already corrupt" - you need evidence + explanation
Your strongest section was Criterion of Utilitarianism.
"We are not Brazil" - how are different?
I don't know if "crappy" is still considered profanity, but use a different word.
